AUSTRALASIAN MEDICAL JOURNAL

Dear Readers

Since its inception in 2008, the Australasian Medical Journal has been striving to make the 'journal experience' an enriching one for all of us. As reviewers and editors of this journal; we have learnt a lot and have grown both professionally and academically. I am sure the journey so far must have been intellectually stimulating. We are deeply grateful for your encouragement and support.

As we move into the New Year, there will be yet another addition to the journal's features. We are introducing a 'rapid response' section and welcome your views about specific papers published in the current or in previous issues. Tell us what you liked or didn't like in a particular study. If you support or wish to counter an opinion piece published in the journal, we'd like to hear it. If you need clarification from the authors on a particular subject, you may ask for that too. We envisage a forum for your feedback and opinions. Most thought provoking submissions will be published here. Please email your submissions to letters@amj.net.au

Wish you all a thought provoking New Year.

Cheers
